public policy, and should be revoked. There is, therefore, double assurance that relief will come to the Pacific Coast some time and the chances are very favorable that the President will accept or terminate the Pacific Mail contract before the House Committee has reached the end of its investigation.

The President has unquestioned authority to end this contract without waiting for legislation on the subject, as he has control of the railroad under the provisions of the Spooner act. Secretary Taft is taking steps to acquire the balance of stock in the railroad held by private parties. It is understood that the Pacific Mail contract will be terminated at the end of the three-year period, which will be next June. A government official having cognizance of the whole matter said today that the government would not be influenced in the slightest degree by the threat of the Pacific Mail Company to withdraw its steamers from the San Francisco-Panama route if the contract is terminated. No one here believes the Pacific Mail will do anything of the kind.

SMOOT CASE GOES FORWARD.

WHITECOTTON OF UTAH HAS HIS DAY IN COURT.

Says the Condition of Polygamy is an "Awful One" and the People Wish They Were Out—Ex-Gov. McConnell's Statements Bring Protest from Idaho Legislature.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

BOISE (Idaho) Jan. 12.—The statements made by former Governor McConnell at Washington before the Senate committee investigating the case of Senator Smoot have created a stir here. Mr. McConnell's statement relating to the gambling prohibition of members of the Legislature being generally respected, and today the following resolution was adopted by both branches of the State Legislature:

"Resolved, that we, the members of the eighth Idaho Legislature, now in session, regarding political belief or religious creed, denounce the statements, as reported in the press, of ex-Gov. J. P. McConnell before the Senate investigating committee reflecting on the morals of the Idaho Legislature as unjust, uncalled for and untrue, and further,

"Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be wired to the chairmen of said Privileges and Immunities Committee at Washington, D. C."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Three witnesses for the defense in the Smoot case today testified that polygamy was dying out in Utah so rapidly that there was no need of prosecution. It was contended that the younger Mormons are all opposed to polygamy, and that if they thought it was taught there would be a revolution in the church. It was admitted that Senator Smoot was the consent of the church to become a candidate for Senator, but only in the form of a leave of absence from his church duties, and it was contended that he could have been nominated and elected without it.

and he joined that party. He was in the woolen mill business," said the witness.

"What other heresies did Mr. Smoot have?" asked Senator Foraker.

"Well, he developed a habit of always voting the Republican ticket, and it was unpleasant to us Democrats to have too many of these fellows around."

"Along the line of Mr. Smoot's early heresies, did he oppose polygamy?" asked Vanocott.

"Yes, sir; he was looked upon as the young man in Utah to redeem the name of the state."

In regard to the political aspirations and the attitude of the people, both Mormon and Gentile, Whitecotton said: "Four years ago Mr. Smoot was talked for Governor, and when he abandoned the race for that office it was understood that he had his eye on the Senate. He was the logical, and in my judgment, the inevitable candidate. Before he became an apostle, he was talked of as a candidate for Senator. After he was elected an apostle, a campaign was waged in which the issue was 'Smoot or not Smoot'."

"Do you think his apostasy assisted or hurt him in his canvass for the Senate?"

"I do not know as to that. I know there are a great many Mormons who opposed him because he was an official of the church. He was a great man who did not take his position into consideration at all. Then there were many who were not for his election because he was an official."

Senator Overman inquired if it was understood that Senator Smoot had to get the consent of the church to become a candidate for the Senate. The witness said it never had been understood that Smoot was the candidate of the church, but that it was understood that he had to get the consent of the church to enter politics, but that it was understood to be merely a leave of absence from his church duties.

"What is the standing of Senator Smoot as to his morals and upright character?" asked Senator Foraker.

"No man in the State or out of it stands better," said Whitecotton.

Senator Dubois inquired why the polygamy had not been charged with adultery, adultery or bigamy, and the witness replied that no conviction could be had on these charges.

"Do the same conditions exist now?" asked the Senator.

"I think they do," was the reply. "I think it is impossible to convict except for unlawful cohabitation."

Whitecotton admitted that he had known of the relations of some plural families, and Chairman Burrows asked why he had not prosecuted these cases.

"Because I am not in the business of prosecuting my neighbors. If I were elected prosecuting attorney I would not prosecute my neighbors," answered Whitecotton.

A recess was then taken.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—At the afternoon session of the Senate, the case of Senator Smoot was continued. The witness, when asked if President Joseph Smith had said that if he had not observed the custom of polygamy, he would have been a "thorough fanatic."

The witness said the act of Apostle Merrill, who is husband of a very young wife, in performing the ceremony uniting his son to a plural wife met his hearty disapprobation, and that the witness would not be prosecuted.

"He had no doubt of the marriage of Apostle Cannon to Lillian Tanner," said the witness, "and he was not at all sure that there had been such a marriage, but who performed the ceremony?"

The witness said that if eleven of the apostles should perform plural marriages ceremonies on the highway or in out-of-the-way places and Smoot, or the other apostle, did not, it would not involve him in moral, legal or any sort of culpability. He said that he understood that Presidents Woodruff and Snow continued to live in polygamous households, and he gave the opinion that the Mormons were responsible for the manifesto, and said if it were not for the manifesto, there would be a revolution.

If the apostate now would bring out a revelation saying polygamy should be resumed, he would not be an apostle who could be sustained by his conference.

H. E. Booth of Salt Lake City, a non-Mormon lawyer, who went to Utah from Iowa in 1880 and has been active in the politics of Utah, asserted that the Mormon church, as a church, did not interfere in political affairs, but that as individuals, they took an active part in politics in the same way that other citizens did.

On the subject of Mormons obtaining consent to return to the United States, Booth's understanding was that all apostles were on a salary to serve the church, and that he had no objection to their coming to the United States, but that he believed the church opposed the election of those who had been in the Mormon church.

On the subject of the church, Booth said that he was glad of it, because that was a polygamist. It was his judgment that President Joseph Smith had always held the most important State offices, and that Gentile leaders who had been in the church were not a polygamist, and that Gentile leaders who had been in the church were not a polygamist, and that Gentile leaders who had been in the church were not a polygamist.

"It would make no difference in his standing in the community," said Whitecotton.

"What would be the effect if he came up for office?"

"It would be to let him in his own way, and do his duty," replied Whitecotton.

Chairman Burrows asked why he required "nerv" for an official to do his duty, and the witness explained that by giving the condition in which such prosecutions would leave women and innocent children.

"What is the sentiment in regard to the polygamist families?" asked the chairman.

The witness replied that "it was an awful condition. One that we wish we were out of, and that we do not know how to get out," said Whitecotton.

"These people, these polygamists, are left without interference," remarked the chairman.

Vanocott asked when Senator Smoot took an active part in politics in Utah.

not a way to meet this problem, I will adopt it and carry it out."

Chairman Burrows asked Booth if he thought a constitutional amendment of the United States prohibiting polygamy would avail, and received the answer that it was not necessary of witness said, however, that he thought it would put an end to polygamy.

Arthur Pratt testified that he had served six years as chief of police at Salt Lake, and under the Territorial government he had been United States Marshal and Deputy United States Marshal.

Angus M. Cannon, the witness said, was a man of high reputation, and could not be credited.

Pratt denied that at the time the politics of Utah was divided along party lines, some Mormons having been set apart to be Republicans and some to be Democrats. He said in three years Joseph Smith had been president, the church had been kept out of politics, but before that time it had been a factor.

FRUIT SHIPPERS' CASE.
DECISION WITHIN A WEEK.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the Interstate Commerce Commission's offices today, the statement was made that a decision would be announced in the case of the California Fruit Shippers against the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads. These cases have been hanging fire for something like five years now. One point in them was decided three years ago, in April, and since then rumors that the final decision would be announced have been circulating several hundred times, but each rumor has been followed by a new one.

The statement now made that the decision will be announced within a week is a serious one, and it is probable that the final decision will be announced within a week.

The decision will be announced within a week, and it is probable that the final decision will be announced within a week.

MONEY FOR INDIANS.
LUMMIS ASKING FOR IT.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles F. Lummis is in Washington in an attempt to secure appropriation of $25,000, with which to buy lands for Indians now practically destitute in San Diego county.

Lummis was here earlier in the winter, and he has been in the United States Commissioner Leupp, and the result will be that the Indian Office will receive a check for $25,000, and Lummis will tomorrow have talks with the Senate and House leaders, and with the United States Commissioner Leupp.

PENSION COMMISSIONER.
VERSIAN WARNER APPOINTED.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The President this morning decided to appoint Representative Versian Warner of Illinois, Commissioner of Pensions to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Eugene Ware of Kansas.

Mr. Warner served with distinction in the Spanish war, and after the war went through the Harvard law school. He is sixty-three years of age, and wealthy.

BRISTOW RESIGNS.
HAS OFFERED WORK TO DO.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Joseph L. Bristow, fourth Assistant Postmaster-General, today tendered his resignation to the President, to take effect January 15.

This afternoon, the President designated Mr. Bristow as a special commissioner to make an investigation into the present trade conditions and freight rates between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and between the west coast of South America and the east coasts of the United States.

The investigation came at the conclusion of an extended conference of the President, Secretary Taft, Mr. Bristow and Senator Long of Kansas. The conference was held in the White House, and the President presided.

The President will finally fix his entire compensation. The isthmian Canal Commission is directed to provide the funds needed in the execution of this order.

After the conference at the White House, the President said that the transfer of Mr. Bristow from the Postoffice Department to work in connection with the proposed isthmian canal had been under consideration for a long time.

Secretary Taft said the Senator, "desired to utilize Mr. Bristow's services in connection with the work of the canal, and he has given me the idea in mind of appointing him a commissioner to investigate the trade and freight conditions ever since he returned from the isthmian canal. The President readily accepted Secretary Taft's suggestion, and the work will be done by Mr. Bristow."

Mr. Bristow has had interviews with the President and Secretary Taft regarding the affair, but his final determination was not reached until today. His decision to accept this special commission was hastened, it was said, by the transfer yesterday of the division of postoffice inspectors from the bureau of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General to the control of the Postmaster-General himself.

Mr. Bristow regarded the issuance of the order to transfer the division of postoffice inspectors as an order as to the inspectors division was not issued with the idea of humiliating Mr. Bristow.

Mr. Bristow is evidenced by the President's action today.

Mr. Bristow will continue as Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General until January 15.

THE CONGRESS.
CLOSING SESSION.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—SENATE.—In the Senate today, in connection with the consideration of the bill granting a pension to the families of the members of the Indian police who were killed in 1890 in the capture of Sitting Bull, Mr. Tillman made the claim that the Indian police are on the same footing as the Philippine constabulary. He said that he had made an effort to get a pension for the family of a South Carolina man who was a member of the Philippine force and who was killed while on duty there. He contended that there was no discrimination because his constituents were from the South, but Mr. McPherson, in charge of the bill, said that was not the case.

The Senator said that way; he does not want to see it any other way," said Mr. Tillman.

Mr. McPherson contended that he was willing to be guided by the facts, to which Mr. Tillman responded that the "disposition of the Senate's interpretation of the facts."

After further debate, the bill was passed.

The chair sustained Mr. Berry's point of order against the amendment increasing the salaries of the Civil Service Commission, and the bill was passed.

The Statehood Bill was then considered.

Mr. Beveridge sought to have a day fixed for a vote on the bill, but Mr. Gorman replied that, owing to the disposition to unduly delay action on the disposition of the Statehood Bill.

Mr. Beveridge did not press his bill, and the Statehood Bill was temporarily laid aside, and the Senate entered upon the consideration of the Senate bill.

A bill extending the law relative to the intimidation of witnesses in Federal courts to witnesses before United States commissioners, was passed.

A bill authorizing the payment of $500 to Charles S. Hooper, a blacksmith, who had been injured while employed by the government, after a prolonged debate, was passed, 25 to 22.

The House then considered the bill, and the Senate adjourned.

BRODIE L. DUKE IN COURT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Brodie L. Duke, half brother of the president of the American Tobacco Company, whose recent marriage resulted in his commitment to a sanitarium, was brought into the Supreme Court in Brooklyn today on a writ of habeas corpus, and after a hearing, was sent to the Long Island home until Thursday next. On that date, a commission appointed by Justice Gaylor is to meet to inquire into Duke's condition and make a report as to whether or not he is fit to be released, and if so, under what conditions.

Writ of habeas corpus on which Duke

was brought into court was obtained by W. C. Brannan of Durham, N. C., who has acted as private secretary for Duke. An attempt was made to question Duke, but the physicians prevented it. However, Duke shouted: "I am going to fight this thing to the last."

One of the physicians said Duke was apparently sane, but in a weakened physical condition.

duce witnesses in another proceeding yesterday in taking testimony before Courtney W. Bennett, the British Consul General at San Francisco, in the Danaher will contest.

DID ROBBERS SLUG PATEET?

Found Lying in Blood Near Police Station.

Says Three Thugs Got His Watch and Money.

Mystery of a Chicago Man With Gashed Head.

Held up, slugged and robbed of $50 and a watch almost under the glare of the electric light of the Police Station—that is the singular experience of Jefferson Pateet of Fourteenth street and Michigan avenue, Chicago, related last night. Pateet was found lying in his own blood at 11:30 o'clock at First and Hill streets. He was groaning and writhing in pain, with a heavy gash on the top of his head, and a great welt, as if made by some blunt instrument.

The injured man was removed to the Receiving Hospital, where he told of having been assaulted and robbed by three young men and well dressed, downtown on business, and was en route to his lodging at the Mount Angel Hotel on North Bunker Hill avenue.

He walked up the incline on Second street to Hill, and there he was followed by three men who appeared to have been watching him on Main street.

Pateet seemed confused when questioned concerning the exact locality of the assault, but he thought the thugs approached him at Second and Hill streets. One presented a revolver and yelled "Hands up," while endeavoring to raise his hands. Pateet says another struck him down, knocking him unconscious. The robbers then hurriedly through their victim's pockets and took all of his money with the exception of a silver dollar. After regaining consciousness Pateet says he walked to First and Hill streets, where he fell, and was found by a passerby.

Beyond the fact that his assailants

were young men and well dressed, Pateet could give no description of them. They were not masked, and appeared to be clean shaven.

Patrolman Parker passed the scene of the reported hold-up less than five minutes before the man was found, but saw nothing suspicious. Parties on the porch of the California Hotel at Second and Hill said they had been sitting there since the theater closed, and had seen no disturbance.

The case is something of a mystery to the police. The man was not under the influence of liquor, and Police Surgeon Quint stated after examining the wound that it could not have been caused by a fall.

Pateet says he came to Los Angeles six weeks ago with the intention of buying a home and bringing his family here. He appears to be prosperous.

TOO MUCH WURZBERGER:

Missing "Heidelberg" Quartette Singer Resurrected After Anxious Search in City Jail.

"Where is Davis?"

Throughout the lively day this morning, the police and the daughter connected with the Belasco Theater.

Davis is a sweet tenor singer, and he came down from San Francisco Thursday night along with other members of the quartette, "Heidelberg," which is to be presented at the Belasco Theater next week.

Seven of the members turned up O.K.

at rehearsal yesterday morning, but Davis was missing. At first nothing was thought of his absence, but later when a search was made and still no Davis, every member of the company became apprehensive.

The above couldn't go on without

Davis, and last night a general search throughout the city was instituted.

As a last resort the Police Station was visited by three anxious searchers. Davis was found inside the jail, where he had been since 10 o'clock in the morning, on a charge of drunkenness. He was bailed out, and "Heidelberg" is now happy.

WAR TO KNIFE.

And Now Partisans of Frey, Who Was Shot at Cockfight, Want Another Officer of the S. P. C. A. Prosecuted for Murder.

THE vendetta between the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals on one side and the Frey clan and ex-Gov. Gage and the District Attorney's office on the other has become so fierce that further prosecution is threatened by one faction and indignation meetings have been called by the enemy.

Supt. Zimmer of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, whom the Society's enemies threaten to prosecute for murder.

have declared war to the knife, while the onslaught on ex-Gov. Gage has not made him any more friendly to the Carpenter side of the feud.

Some new phase of the war develops every day. Yesterday merrily, it promised to be merrier tomorrow.

Friends of the man who was shot were disappointed because Carpenter was not sentenced yesterday, owing to the illness of his counsel. They are threatening more blood.

They claim that Superintendent Zimmer of the society, and possibly other of its officers, have laid themselves open to the charge of murder in the first degree in connection with the Carpenter case. This startling contention was made in the District Attorney's office yesterday by an attorney in the case. The District Attorney states, however, that no criminal complaint against Zimmer has, so far, been sought.

The assertion of Frey's friends is that Zimmer was shown to have been an accessory before the fact by the testimony of Carpenter himself.

The involving of Zimmer in this serious charge comes about in a somewhat laborious way. It would be a positive bore to be hanged on a charge so round-about in character.

Carpenter on the witness stand stated that he went to the cockfight raid, acting under the instructions of Zimmer and while there was under the direction of Zimmer.

It is claimed that Carpenter was guilty of manslaughter, even though he did not intend to hit Frey, but only intended to fire over his head.

It is claimed that Zimmer, supposedly having directed the operations of the gang of officers at the cockfight, has thus laid himself open to the serious charge of having aided and abetted a manslaughter. This is, under the law, murder in the first degree.

ZIMMER'S STATEMENT.

Zimmer was seen yesterday by The Times, but stated that he was not in favor of being hanged.

He said that he had only given Carpenter general instructions, but admitted that Carpenter had been instructed by one of the officers of the society, not himself, to "shoot in the air to scare them if they tried to run."

According to Frey's indignant friends this would constitute the crime of manslaughter had Carpenter's bullet even accidentally hit Frey. Wherefore they insist upon attaching the technical charge to the officers of the society anyhow.

The officers of the society desire, however, that the hanging be postponed until after they have carried out a proposed plan of campaign to be directed against Attorney H. T. Gage. Mr. Zimmer said yesterday: "I don't know whether or not Mr. Gage liked the attack we made upon him, and the District Attorney at Mr. Foster's house, the District Attorney's office was scored quite as bitterly as was ex-Gov. Gage."

WHAT DISTRICT ATTORNEY SAYS.

Capt. Fredericks made the following statement yesterday to The Times regarding the conduct of the prosecution.

MUCH WATER HIGH UP.

Mountains Soaked by Recent Storm and Streams Flowing Full—Lakes Extended.

With the mountains well watered by the late storm, the cotton streams are running in generous volume.

In the San Jacinto Valley the precipitation amounted to 2.45 inches, and in Lytle Creek, Mill Creek and the Santa Ana River, according to reports from the Edison company, there is a large flow now.

The San Gabriel River, as reported by the Pacific Light and Power Company, is running 1800 inches, which is 500 inches more than at this time a year ago.

STRANGEST OF ALL HOLD-UPS.

MORRY COHN, THE PAWNBROKER, LURED ACROSS FIELDS.

Guided by Hatless Stranger Into House on Lombard Ranch, Where Another Stranger Suddenly Appears in Shape of Young Girl—Locket and Chain of Gold.

The most unusual 'hold-up' in the annals of the State was accomplished at 11 o'clock Thursday night on the Los Angeles-Pacific line, near Sawtelle. It was a life-and-death affair from start to finish.

A hatless man, afterward identified as Roy Tellig, an employee of the Lombard ranch, held up a city-bound car just after it had passed Sawtelle. He was without weapons and wore no mask. He was laboring under tremendous excitement.

There were twelve passengers in the car. Throwing up both hands for silence, young Tellig cried:

"I want one of you to go with me! Over to my place, on the Lombard ranch my wife is terrible sick. I want one of you—a woman or a man it doesn't matter which—to go over there with me and sit with her while I saddle up my horse and go for a doctor. Won't one of you volunteer?"

The air of fright and dismay that had come among the passengers when the car so suddenly stopped and the hatless man rushed in, gave way to a hubbub of surprise, mixed with incredulity. Who was this excited fellow? Was his story genuine, or merely a ruse to entice persons away into the darkness of the surrounding fields to be robbed—and maybe slain?

Then, being believed, he tensely pondered when the hatless one's voice rang out again: "Oh, won't one of you please—just go over there and tell me she'll die if I don't get a doctor—and you ought to know I can't leave her alone with him."

"Well," said to himself Morry Cohn, the pawnbroker, "I've got plenty of money, and it may be a job to lay me out, but the tale sounds right."

to me—and I'm 'it.' Rising alone from among the twelve passengers, Cohn announced that he would go. But before stepping off the car with the excited young man he spoke aside with the conductor, and that functionary said he knew the hatless one and it was no hold-up.

The motorman threw on the power and the car sped away cityward, a diminishing speck of light in the heavy darkness.

The man without a hat led Morry Cohn a fast pace across fields, guiding straight for the gleam of a light through a shack window half a mile away.

Arrived, Tellig pushed Cohn into the room, where in bed lay the sick wife, a girl of 17, room to become a mother. With a hurried word of explanation Tellig ran off to the barn, there to saddle his horse and gallop three miles for a doctor.

JACKSCREW TO HIS NECK.

Then Sends Bullet to His Brain and Drops Into the Sea.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

REDONDO, Jan. 12.—Dark as the night is the mystery of an evening tragedy on wharf No. 1, where a well-dressed man took his life, making doubly sure that death should not fail.

At dusk the report of a pistol was heard on the wharf, and the unusual sound coming from that place at once attracted attention. Persons who rushed to the scene found a horrible deed, and looked in the sea for the proof. After much searching and grappling, it was brought to the surface in ghastly form—the corpse of a man about 60 years of age, with a bullet hole above the right ear and a 40-pound jackscrew fastened to the neck with a wire.

He had attached the weight, sent the ball crashing into his brain, and then leaped or tumbled off the wharf into the ocean.

Many persons have viewed the victim of his own hand, but none had ever seen him here. The corpse looks like that of a well-to-do business man. He was about 6 feet tall, weighed about 165 pounds, and had sandy hair and a dark sandy mustache. In the lower jaw were no teeth. The clothing is of good quality, the coat and vest being blue and the trousers dark, with stripes.

form the office thus thrust upon him when the surgeon came. He said: "Myself, I could not have done better."

Thank you, the mother is doing splendidly, the babe weighs seven pounds, and tomorrow Morry Cohn, in company with his mother, will carry a heart-shaped locket of gold, with a chain of gold, to a little lady whose acquaintance he made at night on the Lombard ranch. Morry's mother has visited the baby's mother already.

OH WHAT A JAG!

Wallace Miller's Spree May Cost Him His Liberty for Several Years to Come.

Grand larceny, petty larceny, carrying concealed weapons and drunkenness. All of these charges, got piled up against Wallace Miller, proprietor of an art repair shop at No. 219 West Eighth street.

So gloriously drunk did Miller get that he started out to see the town "right," and not wishing to walk, he appropriated a horse and buggy. The rig was standing in front of the California Hospital, awaiting Dr. A. P. Godin of No. 1419 1/2 South Figueroa street, who was hurrying to complete an operation before going out on an urgent call.

Miller saw the rig first and the doctor was waked.

The drunken man amused himself for an hour or more by driving from one saloon to another, until he finally came to grief at Seventh and Olive streets. Here he toppled from the buggy, taking a dash-dash along with him. Patrolman Hellman found the drunken man, whom he thought dead at first, and started to notify the coroner, but Miller's wife happened to be passing at the moment and immediately recognized in the limp pile of humanity her own legs.

Miller saw the rig first and the doctor was waked.

CHICKENS STILL DRAW.

Large Crowds Throng the Auditorium to View Exhibits in the Big Chicken Show.

The usual big crowds of curious spectators surged in and out of Temple Auditorium yesterday and last night to see the chicken show, and the attendance was very gratifying to the management.

At the auction yesterday the most notable sale was that of S. M. Butler, who disposed of a pen of Barred Plymouth Rocks to Miller & Cammeyer of this city for $125. There was a private sale, however, that amounted to at least $500. Mrs. M. S. Severance of the Van Nuys Hotel buying a cock and twelve pullets of the Barred Plymouth Rock variety from S. M. Butler. The price was not given out, but it is known that Butler refused $100 for the cock alone, and the pen was easily worth $500.

The Orington ranch sold a Black Orington cock for $25 to Mr. Ironmonger of this city. A Brown Leghorn cock brought $25, and a White Rock cock $25. J. L. J. of Morrisville buying the latter from Mr. Butler.

FOUND HIM IN JAIL.

For three days the police searched high and low for Charles F. Roemer to provide for his family. A warrant had been issued, but search where Roemer could be found. He was found until Jailer Hubbard stumbled over the man last night in jail. Roemer was taken in a week ago for having engaged in a fight. He gave the name of George Russell and was sentenced to twenty days in jail. Meanwhile Roemer's family were suffering for the necessities of life. Last night the new warrant was served on Roemer in jail, but as he has two weeks yet to serve on his sentence, no relief for the family is in sight.

AH MOW'S END IS MYSTIFYING.

Former Terror of Town Diet With His Boots on.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

Chinese Grudge Against Hop Sing Tong Leader.

He Had Collected Funds for House up North.

Ah Mow, the one-time terror of Los Angeles Chinatown and head of the Hop Sing Tong, has died "with his boots on" while visiting in San Francisco.

A picturesque death for an old highbinder chief who has held other men's lives in the hollow of his hand.

He was taken ill with a gaspicious malady while at a restaurant at 2 o'clock in the morning; and he died twenty-five hours later in great agony. It is believed that he was poisoned by some highbinder enemy.

His wife and children were sent for and went up on the first train to San Francisco; but they arrived too late. The local Chinese, as usual, professed to be mystified. The police say that the Chinks are afraid to talk.

But Mow was always a big man in the town. Whenever he broke loose among the highbinders in San Francisco, Ah Mow was telegraphed for. He may have become involved in some trouble in one of these rows.

It is known that Ah Mow was in ill favor with the members of his own tong, owing to a business transaction which they resented. He also had scores of old enemies who had felt the power of his "mallet fist" in serious feuds.

On a recent visit to San Francisco, an attempt was made to assassinate him. Hatchet men went on his trail, but Wong Kong, an influential Chinaman, took his part and concealed him. Ah Mow was about to go back to

THE LATE AH MOW.

China; his enemies realized their time for getting even with him was short. His death takes away the last of the notoriety of highbinder life in this city. The notorious Charley Ah Mow was one time his adviser.

In his palmy days, Ah Mow was an absolute dictator in the Chinese quarter. The Chinese people have no conception of the might of a highbinder chief. He and Charley Ah Mow used to have body guards and travel with mailed shirts on.

He had almost the power of life and death over the cowed Chinese, as head of the Hop Sing Tong. That was in the days when two or three big longs ruled the roost here.

The reign of the hatchet men is long since gone. Of late years, no one has been afraid of Ah Mow; he has been regarded merely as a tricky old man whom one had better watch sharply in a trade.

He used to own an opium house here; had a gambling monopoly and was worth $100,000.

Of late he has lost nearly all his money in unfortunate speculations. This season his one remaining vegetable ranch has failed, while his partners in a gambling joint quarreled with him and closed the place out.

He went on a tour of the State, selling stock in the new Hop Sing Tong House, which is to be built on Dupont street in San Francisco. The lower story will be used for stores and the upper floor for lodgings.

Ah Mow collected enough money and a site was bought for $15,000. The Chinese of his tong are alleged to have had a grudge against him because he held up the owner of the property for a commission on the side, thus "playing both ends against the middle."

Though Ah Mow has been in poor health for some time, the idea that he died a natural death is not credited in local Chinatown.

Whenever a tong man dies under these circumstances the old-timers ask, "Will it bring on a tong war?"

The Chinatown squad of police say that Los Angeles has seen its last tong war. Whatever may be doing in San Francisco among the highbinders, there will be no sequel in this city.

PIGEON CLUB.

At a meeting last night the auditorium of the Southwestern Pigeon and Pet Stock Association was formed, and it will start out with good prospects. S. Tyler of Pasadena was elected president and W. E. Foster of Los Angeles, secretary, the list of vice-presidents being as follows: O. H. Burbridge, Los Angeles; C. H. Hancock, San Diego; Robert Venn, Fresno; C. H. Wiggitt, Belmont; Ariz.; W. E. Newell, Alhambra; Al Crawford, Riverside; J. W. Batchelor, San Bernardino. A committee was appointed to draft bylaws, and the association will meet at the call of the chairman. The charter list will remain open for sixty days, and the initiation fee will be $5.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Commissioners of the Board of Public Works yesterday indicated a deadlock between Council and Fire Commission over the purchase of two second-hand machines. Members of the Park Board yesterday afternoon advocated increasing the park force by ordinance to 115 workmen.

The Board of Public Works yesterday denied the application of D. Donagan for an elevator franchise on Court street.

Mrs. M. B. Trail, who was the widow of one of the partners in the world-famous firm of W. R. Grace & Co., obtained a divorce from her husband yesterday in Judge Conroy's court on general grounds.

Mr. La Feta, of Glendora, placed a baritone in the way of his wife's marrying after his death. Judge Wilbur yesterday rendered the stunning blow.

Prosecution held for trial for murder.

AT THE CITY HALL.

FIRE ENGINE FIGHT GETS HOT.

COMMISSION FAVORS PURCHASE OF HOTT MACHINES.

Claim That "Trust" Concern Did Not Keep Faith With City—Council and Fire Board at Cross Purposes—Machinery Engine Lost in New Mexico.

Los Angeles enjoys the unique distinction of being the storm center of a line-engine controversy in which every city of any considerable size in the country is interested.

The manufacture of fire engines in the United States is practically limited to two great companies, the National Engine Company and the American-LaFrance Company. Today it is the question of which of the two companies is to be favored by a commission of machine engineers appointed by the city to judge the merits of the respective machines.

But the contest will not be held. The American-LaFrance engine has failed to arrive. Officials of the freight department of the Santa Fe railroad say that the machine will be here by January 13.

That morning the Fire Commission will decide whether the test should be postponed for one week or be held today—like the play of Hamlet, with one of the hams left out—or whether the competition shall be called off and recommendation made to the Council that the two Hott engines be purchased.

Mayer McAleer last night favored holding the test today. He expressed the opinion that if the Hott engine now on the way here were already on the ground it would not be eligible to compete for the reason that it has been sold to the city of Fresno.

The "Nott" company has brought two engines here, said the Mayor. "If they win the competition they remain in the department; otherwise they are taken back at the company's expense. The American-LaFrance company is bringing an engine here that they have sold to another city. If it wins in the competition it will be sold to the city of Fresno and the company will build up two other engines in the East and ship them here. This would mean a delay of probably two months. It does not appear to me that the American-LaFrance company is a safe bet."

The Mayor held an after-dinner conference in his office in the City Hall with the commissioners who were appointed to judge the competition. An attempt was made to have the Fire Commission present at the same time, but only two of them could be found. The conference broke up about 10 o'clock in the evening. Mayor McAleer said the test should be held this morning's meeting of the Fire Commission.

Evincing their intention to enter the competition if permitted, the American-LaFrance company and the Hott company brought directly here from the Elmer shops to manage the engine during the test, and all the while the city of Fresno, an array of officials of the Hott company, is also on the ground.

If the purchasing power lay with the Fire Commission, the Hott engine would be bought, but it is the Council that makes the contract, and a majority of the members of that body are said to favor the American-LaFrance machine.

The opinion was expressed yesterday that the Fire Commission would recommend the Hott machines and that the Council would ignore the recommendation and purchase the "trust" machines.

INCLINE WINS.

PUBLIC WORKS MISCELLANY.

Court-street property owners made their fifth appearance yesterday before the Board of Public Works to protest against the sale of a franchise for an elevator. There were more than a score of them and their determined opposition was too much for the new members of the board.

Contractor Donagan, who had applied for the franchise, wanted trouble in the air when he said that the protestants had brought their women folk along. He kept away from the meeting and sent in a request that he be permitted to withdraw his application, but the protestants would not accept any compromise proposal. They said that application failed.

Their argument was that a franchise for an incline railway had already been sold on the street and that, if the elevator franchise was sold too, there would not be enough room for the incline to run. The board voted to deny the application.

The board established a precedent in the matter of improving streets by declining to recommend the acceptance of a street graded only on one side. Resolution frequently came to the board for permission to grade a street half-way across; the reason most frequently advanced is that the street is to be made considerably wider later by donations of property on the unimproved side. In a few instances, however, the grade has been accepted. But acting on the advice of the City Engineer, the board declined to accept any half-streets.

Two applications for laying redwood curbs were denied by the board, the

CITY ENGINEER RECOMMENDING THAT WOODEN CURBS BE ACCEPTED ONLY ON DILIGENT GROUND.

Councilman Blanchard, who is a member of the Board of Public Works, did not attend yesterday's session, being ill at his home. Miller and Kern, other members of the board, agreed on every proposition submitted to them.

WANT MORE WORKMEN.

SAY PARK FORCE IS TOO SMALL.

Members of the Park Commission at an adjourned meeting yesterday afternoon favored asking the Council to increase the number of employees in the city parks to at least 100 men. Mayor McAleer was in favor of having the number of workmen provided for by ordinance increased from sixty men to 115.

Park Superintendent Morley said that at times during the last season 140 men were employed in the parks, whereas the park-force ordinance provides for but sixty.

At the request of the Mayor the commission decided to make a resolution that no change should be made in the personnel of the present park force until after February 1. Fourteen men are now being carried in the parks on requisition.

The Mayor's theory for solving the knotty question of the number of workmen to be employed in the parks is to have enough men named by ordinance to provide for any emergency. In the winter when there is little sprinkling to be done, the force could be reduced to less than eighty men, and in the dry season when scores are needed for sprinkling the force could be increased. His idea is to have the question of the number to employ, at any one time to the Park Commission, and to think from the present outlook that the Los Angeles county schools will lose about $6000, but Superintendent Morley's recommendation that additional land be purchased for Sunset Park was filed by the commission. It was asserted that the land would cost at least $15,000 and Mayor McAleer said that it would be impracticable to expend so much money on one park at the present time. A recommendation for the purchase of a strip of land lying between the north end of Echo Park and Sunset boulevard was held for further investigation.

BOND AMENDMENT.

City Attorney Mathews yesterday afternoon forwarded to Sacramento a draft of a proposed amendment to the State Constitution affecting the payment of money due on State or municipal bonds.

The amendment would require that payment must be made in the city where the bonds are issued. The proposed amendment would permit the money's being paid in cities outside the State. This would obviate the necessity of eastern firms holding California securities sending the bonds here for collection.

WERNICK YESTERDAY TOLD OF THE BRUISES UPON HIS BACK WHEN HE WAS KICKED BY A HORSE.

Mrs. Tait, who was the widow of one of the partners in the world-famous firm of W. R. Grace & Co., obtained a divorce from her husband yesterday in Judge Conroy's court on general grounds.

And yet at the very last, and when she realized that she must separate from this man who so abused her, the wife would say no more than she was compelled to.

"And did all of this cause you mental suffering?" asked Judge Conroy, her county clerk, asking a legal question necessary to complete the proof.

"Oh, yes," was the reply in tones of quivering grief, "I suffered mortification, but—" and here Mrs. Tait's voice failed as she burst into tears.

"I suffered for I loved him so much," Judge Conroy granted the decree and allowed the wife to resume the name of Mrs. M. B. Trail. She has an adopted daughter, just budding into womanhood, but no other children. She stated that ever since her marriage she had supported her husband in every way, save, perhaps, that occasionally he paid for certain of his pleasures. His creditors sought recovery from her several thousands of dollars, and one time she did seek to rescue her husband from his financial difficulties, but the more bills she paid the more loomed up before her the day of pay.

SCHOOL FUND REDUCTION.

SMALL DISTRICTS SUFFER.

County School Superintendent Mark Keppel is much exercised at the threatened cut in the distribution of the State school funds. He went to Sacramento with other members of the legislative committee to combat Gov. Pardee's plan of redistribution, but is inclined to think from the present outlook that the Los Angeles county schools will lose about $6000, but Superintendent Morley's recommendation that additional land be purchased for Sunset Park was filed by the commission. It was asserted that the land would cost at least $15,000 and Mayor McAleer said that it would be impracticable to expend so much money on one park at the present time. ## THIEF GRABBED RINGS.

BOLD THEFT OF TRAY OF JEWELRY FROM

Main-street Store—Robber Made

His Escape.

Grabbing a tray of rings from the safe of jeweler, C. H. Bush of No. 313 North Main street, under the very eyes of the proprietor, a robber committed a daring robbery at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and escaped.

Fleet-footed alone saved the thief from capture, for though the jeweler is 70 years old, he is something of a sprinter himself, and gave the robber a hard run down Main street, where the chase attracted a large crowd.

Bush was waiting on a lady customer when the stranger entered the store and asked for a watch he said he had left to have repaired. He gave the proprietor a look that was a minute, the jeweler went back to the safe to deposit a tray of rings. The thief followed closely and grabbed the tray from the jeweler's hand. The rings were valued at $2 each.

Bush caught a good look at the thief and gave a fair description to the police. Detectives at the court in San Jose believe the thief is a yeggman.

O. J. Watkins, who was arrested in Los Angeles recently, by the United States authorities, in connection with a get-rich-quick scheme, has more trouble in store. He is about to be arrested on two additional indictments growing out of the same charge.

The specific charge against Watkins was that he used the United States mails in connection with a lottery enterprise. He was released on $2500 bail, in the Federal court, and went to San Jose, where he was arrested and taken into the State court on an indictment.

The original charge against Watkins was dismissed here but as soon as he was released by the court in San Jose he will be placed under arrest on the two indictments and will be returned to Los Angeles.

WASHINGTON VILIFIED.

Apparent Evidence That the Anti-Federalist Press Was Aided by Jefferson.

[Washington Post.] "At the last meeting of the Columbia Historical Society," said the historian, "we enjoyed a talk quite out of the ordinary, given by Mr. Ford, chief of the division of manuscripts of the Library of Congress. During the past year Mr. Ford has been doing a great work in classifying and listing chronologically the Jeffersonian manuscripts transferred to the Library of Congress by the State Department. The careful examination of these manuscripts has brought to light much valuable and interesting historical information relating to the period covered by the life of our third President. One little feature of these discoveries was made use of by Mr. Ford in his talk before the Historical Society, giving quotations from contemporary letters, to show the relations which Jefferson held to the newspapers of his day. The anti-Federalist press vilified Washington and Adams, and I am sorry to say that Jefferson quietly aided and abetted the editors of these papers in their vilification. William Duane, editor of the Philadelphia Aurora; James Chatham, editor of the American Citizen of New York; and Philip Freneau, who for three years published in Philadelphia a Jeffersonian organ known as Freneau's Gazette, were the most virulent in their attacks upon the Federal administration. Freneau, if not a friend of Jefferson, was a tool, and Jefferson, then Secretary of State, gave him a position in the State Department as translator, although he knew no foreign language except French. Washington asked Jefferson to discharge Freneau, and Jefferson wrote in his diary that he would not do it and that Washington was getting old and failing rapidly. These facts are shown by the original manuscripts, now in the possession of the Library of Congress, which were quoted by Mr. Ford.

"Another villifier of the Federalists, whose particular spite seems to have been aimed at Alexander Hamilton, was Thomas Callender, afterward arrested at Richmond under the sedition law signed by John Adams, and convicted and imprisoned. That Jefferson encouraged Callender and sent him money in recognition of his writing the former's scathing letters clearly appears. But when Jefferson became President he apparently had no further use for Callender, whose talents were of a low order. Refused appointment to an office he sought, Callender turned to bite the hand that had once fed him, and drew a portrait of Jefferson that was copied in every Federalist newspaper in the land. The effects of this vilification lasted for days, for in the New England States Thomas Jefferson is known, not for what he was, but for what he was not, and as is customary, called upon other members of the society to discuss the merits of the speaker of the evening. He adverted to the fact that the birth of the National Intelligencer, that great Federalist paper, was during the period of the Civil War, was coequal with the removal of the seat of government from Philadelphia to Washington; and that a grandson of his founder, Mr. J. Henry Smith, was present.

"Now my friend Smith believes that Thomas Jefferson never did anything wrong and could not if he had tried, and he very promptly said so, and for a minute there was a sort of a hush, as if somebody expected something to happen, but in the next minute everyone was interested in the account of how Smith's grandfather met Jefferson in Philadelphia, and through that meeting was induced to bring his printing office and press to the new Federal city, the banks of the Potomac.

Men's All Wool Suits At Half Price
CLEARANCE $17.50 VALUES AT $8.95
This sale was started a week ago and while it has been a success, yet the weather this week has been against the most liberal shopping and Saturday's selling will naturally be spirited for these suits are in sizes 34 to 42 and will fit any size man. All of them are winter weight garments, correctly tailored and new in style. Our buyer is now in the Eastern market buying for the coming season and these odd lots and broken lines of suits must be closed out before his return. They are values to $17.50 and are single breasted sack style; broad sloping shoulder effect, either full or military backs. Some are full Serge lined; others lined with Italian cloth. The materials are Cheviots, Velours, Tweeds and other popular textiles in the newest colors and patterns. Look where you will, compare with any offered elsewhere and these are absolutely the one line of suits that you should buy from for they are the best values and are offered at, choice
$8.95
Suits, Coats and Furs Reduced
Although the winter season will last for some time yet, and the need of warm outer wearables will be felt in all probability with even greater emphasis than up to now, it is nevertheless the rule in good merchandising to be always a little ahead of the season, so it is our time to hasten the departure of all winter garments, and deep price cuts are the rule. These decided cost concessions, added to our already low prices, make present offerings almost sensational in the matter of values. These extra specials for Saturday:
